Hugh who?

Jemima steps out with new man!

OH, WE DO LOVE A HAPPY ENDING.

When Jemima Khan finally called things off with commitment-phobe Hugh Grant, we hoped she'd have better luck next time. And it looks like she has. Last week, Jemima was pictured for the first time with her new boyfriend, American literary agent Luke Janklow. The 35-year-old heiress has reportedly been seeing Luke for several months and, as they strolled arm-in-arm around West London before stopping for a romantic lunch, they looked blissfully happy. 'Jemima and Luke were introduced at a party over the summer,' said a close source. 'She was charmed by his rough rock'n'roll heritage.' (He fronted a '90s heavy rock band called Darlahood.)

Jemima has been single since splitting from actor Hugh in 2007 after three years together but, until recently, they were often spotted secretly visiting each other's homes. Meanwhile, Luke, 42, divorced his wife Julie earlier this year. Now Luke and Jemima – who has two sons, Sulaiman, 13, and Kasim, 10, from her marriage to former cricketer Imran Khan – divide their time between London and his home in New York, where he works for his father's agency Janklow & Nesbit and owns a restaurant, Sweetiepie.
