FASHION & BEAUTY FOR IRISH WOMEN

PUBLISHED BY IRELAND'S HOMES, INTERIORS & LIVING MAGAZINE NOT TO BE SOLD SEPARATELY

COOL CASHMERE

Crumpet is hot listed in many a fashion editor's secret address book and is fast becoming the UK's number one cashmere brand (for those in the know). They are a small company who make sure they know where their cashmere yarns come from and they take the time to talk to their weavers, dyers and their knitters. This means that every piece is a special luxurious treat, that will look and feel fabulous and become a wardrobe staple for women who like nice things.

Black wrap dress, €125.
Crave at Divine

BE A DIVINE MOMA!

New to Irish boutique, Divine, this season is the amazingly stylish, yet comfortable, Crave maternity collection. With such a high demand from her customers, proprietor Mary Greene felt it her duty to find a stylish and fashionable maternity collection, that was also practical and comfortable for mums-to-be. 'I have a huge amount of pregnant customers, who are constantly looking for me to dress them and help them feel stylish and not frumpy. I was blown away by the Crave range, especially their collection in collaboration with model, actress and mother, Lisa B.'

COMME DES GARÇONS EXCLUSIVE COLLECTION FOR H&M

Debuting at H&M's new Tokyo store on 8th November, then entering approximately 200 stores worldwide from 13th November, including stores in Dundrum and South King Street, Dublin will be a collection designed for H&M by Rei Kawakubo of Comme des Garçons. One of the most significant figures in modern fashion, Kawakubo has created a full men's and women's collection for H&M, complete with accessories and a unisex fragrance. The pieces all have the uncompromising Comme des Garçons spirit, yet will be available at H&M's accessible prices.
